Broad-tire Law Killed.

Mr. Williams, of Mississippi, made the point of order that the House amendment to section 13, the broad-tire bill, was not germane.

The Speaker quick as a flash brought down his gavel and declared the point of corder was sustained. That knocked the conference of such of the many secretarises and directors of the church as could be reached during the night. Whether or not they talked things over with their pestor, Mrs. Eddy, could not be ascertained.
